Parshad Patel

As a fresh computer science graduate with a passion for machine learning, I am eager to dive into the world of data-driven insights and decision-making. My foundational statistics, machine learning, and programming knowledge prepares me to tackle complex problems and turn raw data into actionable insights that drive innovation and growth. From data wrangling to developing predictive models, I am committed to using machine learning techniques to deliver real results. I am excited to bring my skills and enthusiasm to collaborative and dynamic projects in machine learning.
